Ankit is a seasoned deal attorney and legal problem-solver. He counsels multinational corporations, private equity funds, investment banks and other market participants in all aspects of their real estate investment and financing activities. Through his experience in private practice at major law firms, and as a real estate developer himself, Ankit has developed an informed perspective on dealmaking and provides actionable advice that helps clients achieve their goals and manage their risks. His expertise ranges across all asset classes with a specific emphasis on office, data centers, and retail assets. His practice includes a breadth of commercial transactions, including leasing, development and construction, acquisitions and dispositions, joint ventures and other bespoke deal structures.

Ankit is an AFS Fellow, 2023 LCLD Fellow and a member of the Firm's Diversity Committee and Associate Development Committee. He is also a member of the Firm's Hospitality Industry Group and ESG Industry Group.
